Инструкция для учащихся

Итоговая контрольная работа проводится в два этапа: на двух занятиях по 45 минут каждое. На первом занятии ты выполнишь письменную часть работы, на втором – устную. Тебе понадобится ручка, простой карандаш, ластик. Ответы на задания запиши в поля ответов в тексте работы. Если ты хочешь изменить ответ, то зачеркни его и запиши рядом новый. При выполнении работы не разрешается пользоваться учебником, рабочими тетрадями и другим справочным материалом. При необходимости можно пользоваться черновиком. Записи в черновике проверяться и оцениваться не будут. Советуем выполнять задания в том порядке, в котором они даны. Для экономии времени пропускай задание, которое не удаётся выполнить сразу, и переходи к следующему. Если после выполнения всей работы у тебя останется время, то ты сможешь вернуться к пропущенным заданиям. Постарайся выполнить как можно больше заданий.

A. Dmitri Mendeleev was a Russian chemist and inventor who developed the Periodic Law and a periodic table of chemical elements. This allowed him to predict the properties of elements that had not yet been discovered at the time. He is internationally recognised as one of the greats of the world of science and scientific research.

B. Dmitri Mendeleev was born in 1834 in the village of Verkhnie Aremzyani near the Siberian city of Tobolsk. He was the youngest child in a very large family. Although the exact number is not known, he had between eleven and sixteen brothers and sisters. In his early years, the family was quite well-off, as Mendeleev's father was a teacher of fine arts, philosophy and politics.

C. Dmitri Mendeleev began his scientific career teaching chemistry, and by 1864 he had been made a professor at Saint Petersburg State University. He soon began to be noticed by chemists around the world, and it wasn't long before he had turned Saint Petersburg into an international centre of excellence in the field of chemistry research.

D. Mendeleev was not the first to work on a periodic table of elements. Another scientist, Lothar Meyer from Germany, published an almost identical table a few months after Mendeleev. However, only Mendeleev's table contained predictions of undiscovered elements. Many scientists didn't believe his predictions, but two of the missing elements were later discovered, establishing without doubt the accuracy of his table.

E. Apart from his work in the field of chemistry research, Mendeleev was a founder member of the Russian Chemical Society. He also helped establish the first oil refinery in Russia and was, at one time, director of the Russian Bureau of Weights and Measures. Finally, Mendeleev is also credited with having introduced the metric system into Russia.

A Little Grey Bird

There lives a little grey bird in the forest. She is not happy, because she is very small and is not beautiful. And she can't sing.

One evening the little grey bird sits in a tree near a blue lake. The moon comes out and its silver light dances on the small blue waves.

The moonlight sings about how wonderful it is to play with the waves. The little grey bird listens.

Every night the little bird flies back to the lake to hear the songs of the moonlight.

After that she can sing those songs very well too. At first her voice trembles. But then it grows stronger. All the forest can hear it.

And you can hear her songs too, when the evenings are warm and the moon is bright. It is the nightingale.

The Fox and the Crow

Once a crow finds a large piece of cheese. She sits in a tree and wants to eat it, but suddenly she sees a fox.

The Fox comes up to the tree. He looks up and sees the Crow. He sees a piece of cheese also. The Fox wants to get the cheese. He has a good plan in his mind.

He says: 'How beautiful you are, Mrs Crow! You have such big eyes and beautiful nose. Your feathers are nice too. What a pity you cannot sing to show your voice.'

The Crow opens her mouth and says, 'But I can sing. Caw! Caw!'

When the Crow opens her mouth, the piece of cheese falls out. The Fox runs up to the cheese and eats it.

'Thank you very much,' he says. 'The cheese is good. And you can sing well. What a pity you don't think well.' And the Fox runs away.
